1-TRADING ALL MY SORROWS

*Little bird standing outside my window
Spread your wings, fly tell all the world
I will no longer bear my shoulders like a willow
For today I will be trading all my sorrows away*

*For I have tasted the tears and the laughter
My heart has felt both the joy and the pain
Throughout this world of wonders and disasters
I will not walk the path of delusion again*

*Little bird go fly across the ocean
Catch the wind before the break of day
Don't let the waves distract you with their motion
You're meant to fly so try not to lose your way*

*For I have gone astray so it nearly cost my freedom
And I regret hard words spoken yesterday
And I have faced the Truth profound and mysterious God got me saved although the harvest has been delayed*

*Little bird standing outside my window
Spread your wings, fly tell all the world
I will no longer bear my shoulders like a willow
For today I will be trading all my sorrows away*

2- THIS ROBIN WILL NOT FLY

*When the morning sunshine shone kindly through your window
It revealed an ocean of tears never been cried
Girl it must be hard for you to hold back those emotions
I can't help but wonder how long this is going to last*

*Yes, I know that life has been hard on you
But you got to try, that's the least you can do*

*Somewhere not so long ago when you were still a young girl
Pain came without a warning; dark clouds cover up your sky
In the midst of childhood there is a battle for survival
Little bird's wing been broken, now this robin will not fly*

*Yes, I know that life has been hard on you
But you got to try, that's the least you can do*

*Time goes by, this girl grew up, those memories almost faded
Then one day they come back knocking at your door
Who will grieve, who will judge, who will look into the mirror
Are you with, are you against, will you walk the other mile?*

*Yes, I know that life has been hard on you
But you got to try, that's the least you can do*

3- REFLECTIONS ALONG THE TRACKS

*This song was born one cold month of December Children laughed while they played in the snow
In my life I'll always remember:
Words on paper bleached by the sun
Far away in the depth of the canyon
Hummingbird you are now on your own
For you lost your only companion
Words on paper bleached by the sun*

*And I can hear Life calling in the morning
New pages will be written on its book
I see the lines on my face revealed by the morning sun
They remind me of the day all around us will be gone
Life moves on, and on, without me and without you*

*Help me find my way back to the station
You see my feet they are still on the run
You'll forgive me when you hear my confession
Words on paper bleached by the sun
Along the tracks there is space for reflection
Out of thousand battles fought, only a few I won
Yet there is none of them worth of mention
Words on paper bleached by the sun*

*And I can hear Life calling in the morning
New pages will be written on its book
I see the lines on my face revealed by the morning sun
They remind me of the day all around us will be gone
Life moves on, and on, without me and without you*

*I hear the sound of a train in the distance
Still there is work to be done
Although my life will pass in an instance Words on paper will come and will go*

4- LOVE SEEDS NEED TIME TO GROW

*Will you wait until the spring turns into summer?
All those wild expectations within your heart will only tear your world apart
And if by then, he will still be your boyfriend
Remember to tell him; it's never too late
Tell him that: True love waits*

*Don't get carried away my love
Love seeds need time to grow
When the autumn winds blow chilly and cold
You will remember the words you have been told
Don't get carried away my love*

*Will you find the strength when the summer is over?
When those years of innocence are left behind
When the worries of life now fill your mind
Will you seek for truth before you search for power?
Will you raise your eyes up to the skies when you're looking for meaning in your life?*

*Don't get carried away my love
Love seeds need time to grow
When the autumn winds blow chilly and cold
You will remember the words you have been told
Don't get carried away my love*

5- TIME IS A THIEF

*Come gather your winter clothes my love
You see the weather is getting cold
Soon it will be winter, while we keep growing old
Once I looked back upon my shoulders
I watched my footprints on the snow
One day it will be over, that's the one thing I really know*

*Day becomes night. Night becomes day
Time is a thief stealing our lives away*

*You are hiding behind those curtains
When you should be acting on the scene
Success it's so uncertain. Failure the alternative Many words have been spoken.
Many songs have been sung
Pledges have been broken.
There's nothing new under the sun*

*Day becomes night. Night becomes day
Time is a thief stealing our lives away*

*Come gather all those seashells that you found along the shore Lay them where your dreams dwell, right here where the heart longs for more
Then let the sun heat your body.
Let the wind dry your skin. Its useless to feel lonely
When I could keep you company*

*Day becomes night. Night becomes day
Time is a thief stealing our lives away*

6- DON'T TAKE IT FOR GRANTED

*Leave or stay, but do not take me for granted
If you're willing to drive on this highway of love
You better look for the heart limit signs
Baby you're driving too wild, is this what you wanted?
You've been driving around with my heart
But don't take it for granted*

*Here or somewhere else, well, it really does not matter
You've been working so hard to achieve your goal
But somehow, you'll find that was the end of the road Baby you're pushing too hard, is this what you wanted?
You've been playing around with my heart
But don't take it for granted*

*On and on we go.
Day by day the show must go on
But maybe one day you will hear me say
I just can't take it anymore
My heart is aching, and I suppose
It's nearly breaking, so, hear me love
Consider this warning: don't take me for granted*

*Leave or stay, but do not take me for granted
If you're willing to drive on this highway of love
You better look for the heart limit signs
Baby you're driving too wild, this what you wanted?
You've been driving around with my heart
But don't take it for granted*

*On and on we go.
Day by day the show must go on
But maybe one day you will hear me say
I just can't take it anymore
My heart is aching, and I suppose
It's nearly breaking, so, hear me love
Consider this warning: don't take me for granted*

7- A NEW HORIZON

*I've been living in the land of the long and lonely shadows Always running against the wind like a lost and broken arrow
Surely the ditch is deep,
and the road is narrow*

*I've been searching for a light that will blow away the sorrow Jesus Christ my lord, tonight, he promised me a bright tomorrow
Surely the ditch is deep,
and the road is narrow*

Freedom vessels sail the ocean, search for a new horizon Flying eagle spread the notion of love, faith, hope and devotion

*Surely the ditch is deep,
and the road is narrow
and the gate is narrow*

8- ONE SUNDAY MORNING

*She woke up one Sunday morning, between the earth and the sky
On a bed made out of roses, with thorns along the sides
Strictly placed to remind you; Brother don't move Don't pass across the line*

*She picked up lilies of the valley, tied them up as a crown around her hair
She moved as in slow motion, my emotions would not bear
I stayed around to watch her, but when I looked back
She was not there*

*And I cried out loud. But my voice would not give a sound
Will you lay down your weapons to the ground?
If it's you instead of me, put an end to this misery
Will you show mercy.
Oh, have mercy. Mercy on me*

As I move on along this empty highway, I'm searching for the child of yesterday and though my heart still claims for justice, yet I know it's just too late somehow right there, I notice that the road ahead spelled out Jeshua's name

*Then I cried out loud. But my voice
would not give a sound
Will you lay down your weapons to the ground?
If it's you instead of me, put an end to this misery
Will you show mercy.
Oh, have mercy. Mercy on me*

9- SWEET PRETENDER

*To surrender is always hard, so stop pretending
Give up all those dreams, just let it go
A boat lays by the shore, but won't wait there forever
The summer will soon be gone, birds will sing no more*

*Dreams are for those who are still sleeping
Waking up can be hard thing to do
To live and let live, it's never been easy Living is a hard thing to do, even for you*

*Surrender to your fate, you sweet pretender Stop looking for a place to call your home
A harvest is at hand and the fruit is tender Sooner or later, you will reap what you have sown*

*Dreams are for those who are still sleeping
Waking up can be hard thing to do
To give is more blessed than to receive
For when you give it will be given back to you*

The love you gave will surely be given back to you

10- TELL ME, TELL ME HEART

*On and on we go, never reaching home.
Through thousands of years, we've been travelling We're making our way across the Milky Way Oceans of tears we've been crying
But I know for sure that this pain won't prevail.
King Hardship won't reign anymore.*

*Tell me, tell me, heart why do you sigh?
Why you never stop to ask yourself why?
I know beyond a shadow of a doubt:
Throughout this world of strive a light will shine*

*Lost and insecure, heartbreaks without cure
You wander through this world slowly dying.
Feeling out of place, you try to hide your face.
The fear in your eyes subtly abiding.
But I know for sure that this pain won't prevail.
King Hardship won't reign anymore.*

*Tell me, tell me, heart why do you sigh?
Why you never stop to ask yourself why?
I know beyond a shadow of doubt:
Throughout this world of strive a light will shine*

11- YOU 'VE BEEN RUNNING

*When I look into your eyes,
I can feel something just not right
I see the tears you so eagerly trying to hide
Because behind your smile and your friendly words
You feel empty and afraid,
And you have come to a point of no return*

*But you keep running. You keep hiding
You keep running away from Him
Missing all the joy and peace He can bring Turn around try to understand
He has come to set you free
He came to earth to rescue you and me*

*But you turned your head, looked the other way
Please come back, don't you walk away
There is a time for each and everyone
To seek for the truth, to search for the light
To discover what's wrong, what's right
To find out the meaning and purpose of your life*

*Then you'll stop running You'll stop hiding
You won't be walking away from Him
Receiving the tender healing that He brings Turn around now, understand
He has come to set you free
He came to earth to rescue you and me*

He paid the price so that we could all stand free

12- YOUR MOMENT IN TIME

*Time like a river it runs, memories like waters abide Whoever sticks to a dream will find it's like swimming up streams
But don't let it bring you down, get up
Get your feet back on the ground
After all, when all comes around
It's your moment in time*

*Child born in a foreign land
Footprints left on the desert sand
Into a young man he turns
While the dream on his chest zealously burns*

*But don't let them bring you down, get up
Get your feet back on the ground
After all, when all comes around
It's your moment in time*

*The girl into a woman has grown
She stands by the hall and opens the door
A world full of duties is revealed Yet the dream in her heart lingers still*

Get your feet back on the ground
After all, when all comes around
It's your moment in time*
